Are you looking for late night eats in Miami? These restaurants are probably still open

HANDOUT

Miami runs on a different schedule than most cities in the U.S. Nobody shows up to a club before midnight, because most headlining DJs aren't even on the premises until 1 or 2 a.m. Some clubs don't even find their swing until close to dawn (you know the ones). This thriving after hours party scene — combined the city's heavy influx of European and South American culture — has created a world where grabbing dinner at 10 p.m is pretty much the norm, and brunching is just as acceptable at midnight as it is at midday. If you're new to the night-owl schedule and at some point find yourself scrolling through Yelp at 1 in the morning on the hunt for someplace to grab a bite, never fear — we've made a list of our favorite Miami eateries that are open late (late) night.

EL TUCAN

El Tucan HANDOUT

Recently reopened with new entertainment and a reimagined Asian-inspired menu, El Tucan is a lush, tropical lounge-meets-supper club where you can watch aerialists swing from the ceiling and listen to world-class singers while sipping creative craft cocktails and nibbling dishes like pork belly bao buns, spicy hamachi tacos and more. The resto-lounge serves food every day except Mondays and Tuesdays from 7 p.m. - 3 a.m.

Hours: Wednesday-Sunday, 7 p.m. - 3 a.m. Details: 1111 SW 1st Ave., Miami; www.eltucanmiami.com
